

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Music Of “the Manics” Is Expressed In Emotive Artwork in “For The Record”.

London, UK – 17 January 2020 –

“ A moving film about music, creativity, fandom and healing. It’s heartfelt and lovingly crafted, just like the art it celebrates.”

David Evans, Author “Manic Street Preachers’ The Holy Bible” (33 ⅓)”

Paul Wyatt’s documentary For The Record tells an engaging and moving story of music fans who are inspired creatively to raise money for charity by their love of Welsh rock band Manic Street Preachers and in particular their song No Surface All Feeling. This song is taken from the Manics 1996 album Everything Must Go which was the first to be recorded without lyricist and rhythm guitarist Richey Edwards who went missing in February 1995. Richey’s disappearance is reflected in emotive art created for the charity art exhibition Secret 7” as well as the themes of loss and new beginnings. The power of music and art as expressive mediums in which to share our thoughts and feelings is at the heart of For The Record.

A 60-second trailer has been released for the film which also features rock photographer Tom Sheehan and is set against a backdrop of the Secret 7” event. For The Record will have its first screening at The Royal Society of Arts in February 2020 with further screenings coinciding with this year’s Secret 7” exhibition which takes place 9th to 30th May at The Now Gallery, North Greenwich, London. Secret 7”

Secret 7” raise money for good causes by taking 7 unreleased music tracks by 7 famous musicians which are pressed 100 times each onto 7-inch vinyl. Famous artists (in the past these have included David Shrigley, Gilbert & George, Ai Weiwei, Es Devlin, Sir Paul Smith, Sir Antony Gormley and Jeremy Deller) are invited to create cover art for these alongside others chosen from an open call for submissions from members of the public. The exhibition is completely anonymous with nobody knowing who created what or for which music track. All is finally revealed when the covers are sold on a first come first served basis on sale day
